

EDITOR'S NOTE

The terms of reference of the Inquiry into the Teaching of Asian Studies and Asian languages in Higher Education have been included in this issue because of their importance for the future policies and direction of Asian studies and language teaching in Australia; Asian studies resources and their funding are an integral part of the education and research process and will necessarily be affected by the outcome of the Inquiry.

Please continue to send in your contributions - articles and reports, news of conferences, exhibitions and workshops, automation, acquisition and collection news related to East Asian resources. Reviews of Chinese, Japanese, Korean and other East Asian word processing software are also welcome.

The editor wishes to thank all the contributors to this issue. The deadline for inclusion in the next issue is 31st October, 1988.
