

Dear ALRA colleagues and readers

After an eventful year filled with uncertainty and change, it is gratifying to see that the Australian Asian library community remains resilient. My thanks to all who have contributed to this issue and I look forward to hearing in due course about the challenges and triumphs which the New Year brings.

Darrell Dorrington
Editor